JULIE LINDSAY

Julie is a global collaboration consultant, innovator, teacherpreneur and author. As the founder and CEO of Flat Connections, she designs and manages award-winning online projects and customised learning experiences for educators, including virtual courses and live events. Julie is currently a Quality Learning & Teaching leader (Online) for the Faculty of Arts and Education, and an adjunct lecturer for the School of Information Studies at Charles Sturt University. She is completing an EdD at the University of Southern Queensland with research focusing on online global collaborative educators' and pedagogical change. For 15 years she worked as an education leader in digital technology, online learning and curriculum across Asia, Africa and the Middle East. Her new book, The Global Educator, shares many stories, approaches, updated practices and case studies on how to learn online both locally and globally.

The Global Educator: Leveraging Technology for Collaborative Learning & Teaching

Modern learning must be global, providing inter-cultural understanding and collaboration to personalise learning, achieve curriculum objectives and bring the world to students. Educators must be empowered and learning environments must be connected in order to ‘flatten’ learning around the globe. This calls for a shift in pedagogy, a shift in mindset and the integration of digital and online technologies. In The Global Educator: Leveraging Technology for Collaborative Learning and Teaching, author and global education forerunner Julie Lindsay shares pedagogical approaches and examples to empower educators and education leaders to make meaningful connections.
