

Embedding formative assessment

A two-year professional development pack

by Siobhan Leahy and Dylan Wiliam

This pack is based on the premise that all teachers can improve their practice by developing their use of classroom formative assessment, or assessment for learning (AfL), through membership of a teacher learning community (TLC).

A TLC consists of a group of teachers who meet together regularly to improve teaching and learning, putting the responsibility onto the teachers for supporting each other as a group. The pack contains everything a school or college needs to run a two-year professional development programme for every teacher: PowerPoint presentations, video clips, and all the materials needed for 18 workshops.

We suggest that schools/colleges start by introducing teachers to the five strategies of classroom formative assessment before teachers meet as a TLC. The presentation provided on disc 1 of this pack can be used as an introduction. The presentations on disc 2 can be used as part of this initial presentation, as part of a 'refresh' presentation at the beginning of year 2, or individually, as appropriate.

Get the tools and strategies to put into practice over 20 years of research into what makes the difference to student learning - and help change teacher practice to do so.

The pack contains two discs, one for each year.
