- Lessons engage the students in writing, researching and cross-curricular activities
- Research-based program designed to create successful readers

Summary:

This series of eight books, A to H, expands on the standards-based strategies taught in our CARS and STARS Series. Students use independent practice with graphic organisers and writing prompts to apply their understanding of the strategy. Extension activities are given in every lesson. Teacher-directed introduction and scaffolded models focus students' attention on mastery of the targeted strategy. Each student book contains 12 ten-page strategy lessons and a final five-page review assesses all twelve reading strategies.
