Summary:

How to Handle Hard-to-Handle Parents details specific skills for communicating with parents, including those who are difficult, angry, overprotective or overbearing. Packed with sample forms, letters, scenarios and vignettes, plus techniques for involving families whose first language is not English, this guide helps educators: establish relationships with parents of all backgrounds; recognise, and work with, characteristics of difficult people; be proactive in getting parents to cooperate; conduct expert parent conferences; and handle all types of parents, including 'Know-It-Alls', 'Blamers' and 'Helicopter Parents'. This must-have resource helps educators work effectively with all parents to establish relationships that boost student achievement.
