Summary:

While educational leaders must be responsive to government and education department policy mandates, compliance alone will not guarantee continuous school improvement. Leaders must create conditions that foster innovative solutions to perennial problems and engage all educators in systemic reform. Paul L. Kimmelman creates a triangular framework for improving education based on policy compliance, effective leadership and innovation. With practical examples from business and education. The School Leadership Triangle provides leadership teams with a solid foundation for discussing key issues that can lead to substantive improvements in schools and regions while addressing the challenges of educational policies.
