Summary:

Why should your school have a Family Maths Night?

- To help students learn essential maths concepts
- To give parents a chance to serve as models of motivation, persistence and competence
- To promote maths success in a supportive setting

Parents play an important role in the academic lives of students. By participating in Family Maths Night, parents can serve as models of motivation, persistence and competency to their children.

With its step-by-step directions and suggestions for both teachers and parents, this book takes the worry out of planning and conducting a Family Maths Night at your school.

The downloadable resources contain all reproducible pages in PDF copies for ease of use.
