Learning
Leader

Summary:

School leaders should always be striving to learn as much, if not more than, their students. Expectations held by administrators, parents and government institutions constantly affect the school environment, as teachers strive to please everyone while providing a quality education for their students. In this way, school leaders must be adaptable, and set a strong example for their fellow educators to follow.

For principals, principals in training and other school leaders, The Learning Leader: Reflecting, Modelling and Sharing provides ideas strategies to aid professional growth, improve relationships with faculty and staff, and make necessary changes to P–12 learning environments. Grounded in specific examples and personal experiences, The Learning Leader includes:

- Using data to improve student learning
- Advice for applying twenty-first-century learning
- Tips for strengthening communication and collaboration
- Self-reflection activities to hone leadership goals and skills

The Learning Leader is the perfect resource for principals and other school leaders, ensuring that professional development is easily implemented at school for all teachers.
