Summary:

Activities for Developing Thinking Skills provides instruction and suggestions for the explicit teaching of thinking skills to all students. It provides a balanced approach to creative and critical thinking, developing both divergent and convergent thinking skills as part of the thinking process. The book is divided into two halves, Productive Thinking and Productive Planning, both of which have four sections.

Key selling points:

- Each section can be completed over the course of a week, in three or four 30-minute sessions.
- Addresses fluency, flexibility, elaboration, originality, evaluation, planning, forecasting and decision making.
- Includes warm-up exercises, independent lessons, curriculum lessons and tally sheets.

Supporting resources:

- Learning to Think, Thinking to Learn (4552)
- Team Challenges (HB3542)
- Creative and Critical Thinking (IFA23305)
- CPS For Teens (2681)
