Summary:

This book contains 15 new units based on Gardner's theory of Multiple Intelligences. The subject choice is wide and students will really enjoy the variety of challenging work available. You will find an extensive range of subject matter. Questions are open-ended and suitable for any academic ability you have in your class. Thematic unit titles include ancient civilisations, community, transport, USA and water.

Key selling points:

- Clear outline of what the eight multiple intelligences are and how they benefit learning.
- Five practical activities for each intelligence within every unit.
- Sample rubrics and assessment suggestions.
- Flexible unit implementation strategies.
- Can be used to help students build on their learning strengths and improve areas of weakness.
