Summary:

A tightly-organised guide, this book provides educational leaders with tools and resources for creating both a vision and a process for school reform. Organised in chapters devoted to single aspects of technology leadership such as a planning, curriculum and instruction, assessment, staff development, legal and social issues, and more, the book provides clear and specific directions for the unique concerns of leaders at all levels with easy-to-follow charts and tables containing detailed task assignments. It is a truly complete and indispensable reference and workbook for both every educator in a leadership position as well as those preparing to assume one.
