Summary:

Google certified teachers James Lerman and Ronique Hicks show you why Google applications are the best free online learning tools available today. You will discover how students and educators can collaborate with Google Documents, how the Forms application allows creation of instant feedback quizzes, how a literature class can go on excursions with Google Earth, how parents can view student work on websites created with Google sites, how iGoogle can help everyone create personal learning networks, and so much more. The possibilities are endless – and the applications are free! Over 40 lesson plans across all year levels will help you transform communication, collaboration and creativity in your classroom.
