Summary

Classrooms today include a diversity of readers, and teachers are called upon to meet the needs of all learners. In particular, they must help students think critically and communicate effectively using visual, print and digital text. Personalized Reading highlights four different types of readers – the struggling reader, the reluctant reader, English learners and advanced readers – and presents ways to use technology tools to accommodate their different reading styles. The strategies and classroom-ready ideas in this book will help secondary educators incorporate technology to promote reading, critical thinking and digital literacy.

This book will:

- help teachers empower students with the skills and strategies they need for reading success and to find joy in reading
- inspire teachers to meet students where they are and raise the level of thinking about teaching readers
- provide activities to support the diverse learners that enter the classroom and highlight a variety of technology tools to tap into the multifaceted texts students can access.
