Summary

Educators are lifelong learners who continuously explore new strategies for engaging students, but they must be empowered to control their professional learning path. When they need support, they turn to a technology coach. In this book, author Jo Williamson talks about the essential role that technology coaches play in transforming schools into digital age, global learning environments.

Taking an in-depth look at the ISTE Standards for Coaches, the book offers applicable strategies illustrated with scenarios and real-world examples from around the world. This valuable resource will help you understand the ISTE Standards for Coaches and learn how to adapt them to your school or organisation's unique setting.

With chapters dedicated to each of the six standards, detailed examinations of the supporting elements, a rubric and comprehensive resources, this guide will support you in creating highly effective digital age learning environments.
