Summary

Something magical happens when teachers and students believe they can achieve at high levels – they do. This quick reference guide helps principals build lasting trust in modelling a school-wide culture of high expectations, exploring the use of research-based strategies and reality-based practices to plant the seeds of academic achievement.

With 35 years of successful turnaround leadership, author Lillie Jessie provides a goldmine of life-changing tips that impact teachers, students and parents. Some of the principles it highlights include

- building trust and modelling a culture of high expectations
- using research-based strategies and reality-based practices
- planting the seeds of high academic achievement early on
- focusing on learning more than teaching and on results more than plans
- celebrating small wins and maintaining a fun school climate.
