“What do you think?” asked Vicki.

She held up the baby dress for Kevin and Kiri to see.

“It’s just so cute,” said Kiri,
touching the tiny buttons on the dress.

“All you need now is someone to buy it.”

“All you need now is the baby,” said Kevin.

Vicki punched Kevin on the arm.

“I’m not making them for myself you idiot!

They’re to sell.

I’m making them for Pam’s stall
at the market in River Road.”

“That’s a relief,” said Kevin.

Vicki took the dress and put it
next to the sewing machine.
Five more dresses lay in bits
ready to be sewn together.

“You’ve been busy today,” said Kiri.

“Well I like to keep busy,
even though I’m out of work,” said Vicki.
