Here is a folktale from Africa. Read the folktale.
Then do Questions 1 to 12.

In days gone by, there was a war between the birds and the animals. The bat, not knowing which side to take, did not at first join either side.

When he saw that victory was leaning to the side of the birds, he flew to the birds to join them. One of the birds, seeing him, asked what business he had in their camp. "Don't you know that I am one of you? See my wings," the bat declared. Finally, he was accepted by the birds.

Unfortunately for the birds, victory swayed to the side of the animals. The bat deserted the birds and went over to the animals. One of the animals, who had noticed him in the camp of the birds, demanded, "What are you doing here? Are you a spy?"

The bat replied, "I am one of you. Can't you see my teeth?" And the bat parted his lips to show his small teeth.

The animals refused to accept him, and the birds refused to have him back. Eventually the animals won the war. Since that time, the bat has remained alone, an outcast from all the other creatures in the woods. Even today, the bat does not go out from his home except at night.
