Summary

More than any other time in education, schools are being asked to address the challenges of ensuring we leave no students behind in their pursuit for success – regardless of their background, previous achievements and dispositions. Sometimes the challenge in seeking resource support in schools is not a shortage of information but knowing which information is most relevant to their school improvement efforts.

Securing Learning Success looks closely at some of the important factors leaders and teachers require to put learning first:

1. Learning Led Leadership
2. Successful Learning and Teaching
3. Healthy Culture for Learning
4. Highly Engaged Community

Chapter extracts from leading international and Australian authors have been compiled to provide practical strategies for teams in their pursuit of securing learning success.
