Summary

Collaborative Common Assessments: Teamwork. Instruction. Results. presents the practical steps teacher teams must take to create clear, comprehensive assessment systems and continually improve results for students, teachers and their PLCs. Author Cassandra Erkens aims to show teacher teams and administrators why and how to make these gains through collaborative assessment design, delivery and data analysis.

K–12 teachers, administrators and teams will:

- Learn best practices for working together as an assessment team
- Evaluate vital criteria to take into consideration when prioritising standards
- Read real examples from schools that have implemented collaborative common assessment systems
- Decide how and when to embed common assessments into a balanced assessment system
- Discover why to respond to assessment data quickly to make program improvements
- Understand how assessment, instruction and re-engagement work together to ensure all students learn
- Develop a deep foundation of assessment literacy
