Summary:

Harbors of Hope: The Planning for School and Student Success Process offers a proven way for schools to deal effectively with the “white waters” of change and to create a culture of hope in which students receive the support they need to achieve success.

This resource offers practical solutions for improving student achievement, attitudes, attendance and behavior through a proven planning model that addresses how to

- use the power of purpose to align staff efforts
- use critical evidence to establish meaningful goals and track progress
- engage the professional learning community in developing plans to improve
- implement high-yield strategies to enhance student performance
- involve parents and the community in supporting school improvement plans
- create a culture of change
- follow the cycle of continuous improvement

Harbors of Hope: The Planning for School and Student Success Process combines the authors’ extensive experience with effective school research and the power of the professional learning community to create a uniquely hopeful approach that results in schools that are effective, efficient and excellent.
